EIGHT GRADE

Eighth Grade is een ode aan de onuitputtelijke teen spirit en het regiedebuut van de jonge comedian Bo Burnham.

De veertienjarige Kayla (Elsie Fisher) wordt gevolgd in haar laatste schooljaar voor ze naar high school gaat. In haar vlogs, die door niemand bekeken worden, geeft ze vastberaden adviezen over volwassen worden en hoe je dat een beetje zelfverzekerd kunt doen. In het echte leven staat ze echter aan de zijlijn en vindt maar moeilijk aansluiting bij haar leeftijdgenoten, laat staan de jongen op wie ze verliefd is. Kayla wil niets liever dan zichzelf zijn, maar hoe doe je dat? Daar probeert ze achter te komen terwijl ze zich een weg navigeert langs pijnlijke zwemfeestjes, een vader die er niks van begrijpt, populaire pestkoppen en ongewenste avances.

Na de première tijdens Sundance Film Festival, waar Eighth Grade de publieksprijs won, veroverde Kayla de harten van Amerika met haar naïviteit, kwetsbaarheid en onhandigheid die soms ongemakkelijk is om naar te kijken, maar waar je al helemaal niet van wilt wégkijken.

CAST

ELSIE FISHER played a supporting role in Disney's feature film McFarland, USA. She voiced the lead role of "Agnes" in the animated features Despicable Me and Despicable Me 2. Fisher has also played roles on television shows such as "Raising Hope," "Mike & Molly," and "Medium." She previously played a supporting role in the indie feature Dirty Girl.

JOSH HAMILTON can soon be seen in Blaze, written and directed by Ethan Hawke. His other film work includes Manchester by the Sea, Dark Skies, J. Edgar, Margaret, Frances Ha, Kicking and Screaming, and Away We Go. On television, Hamilton can be seen in the series "Sweetbitter," "13 Reasons Why," "Gracepoint," and in recurring roles on "Madam Secretary" and "American Horror Story." On stage, he starred in Wallace Shawn's Evening at the Talkhouse at the National Theatre and in Annie Baker's The Antipodes for the Signature Theatre Company.
