Heddy Honigmann

Heddy Honigmann is considered one of world's best documentary filmmakers. Her films (short & long fictions, short & long documentaries) have travelled all around the world receiving major awards and important retrospectives as in Toronto, the Museum of Modern Art in NY, Paris, Berlin, Minneapolis, Barcelona, Madrid, Valencia, Ontario, Utrecht, Grasz, Chicago and Berkeley between others.

She has also received many important awards for her entire work, as the Living Legend Award at IDFA in 2013, the Dortmund Honorary Award for Documentary Film M (2013), as the Hot Docs Outstanding Achievement Award (2007), the San Francisco Films Society's Golden Gate Persistence of Vision Award (2007), the J. Van Praag Award from the Humanist Association (2005) Netherlands, the Jan Cassies Award for her whole oeuvre from the Dutch National Fund for Cultural Films for Television (2003) Netherlands.

When she received the San Francisco Persistence of Vision Award in 2007, John Anderson (a regular contributor to Newsday, the New York Times, Variety and The Guardian) wrote the following about Heddy's work:

Heddy Honigmann Is Good for You... and her films are appetizing antidepressants. Penguins, fast food and fat guys in baseball caps all have been credited with raising the profile of the documentary in recent years, but these are aberrations, stupid pet tricks at the symphony. Among the real artists of nonfiction, Heddy is as responsible as anyone for raising the standards of doc-making worldwide. She flexes the form to meet her purposes, but never sacrifices style or integrity. She champions the dispossessed without sermonizing, and she injects just enough of herself in her films to give us a sense of the woman behind the movie without ever eclipsing the subject or the substance, the sense of space or the sense of place (...)

That her films are ego less makes them all the more precious. This award is to honor the lifetime achievement of a woman who has taken us inside the hearts of subjects most other filmmakers would never have noticed.

Born in Lima, Peru in 1951, Heddy trained as a filmmaker in Rome and has lived and worked in the Netherlands since 1978. It is said that love brought her to Amsterdam, and love has been the engine of her art—especially if one considers art a form of love. Heddy isn't particularly interested in railing against social inequities, despite the sense of political dissatisfaction one hears rumbling under her movies like a dyspeptic subway train. Rather, she is obsessed with the way people of often limited means deal with those inequities—through art, through love, through sex. Through memory. Through dance and through music (...)

Heddy's films are elegantly composed, rich in precisely poetic imagery, fluid transitions and narrative flow. Ultimately, though, what one comes away feeling is the humanity, the empathy, the pouring out of hearts. Ask any theologian: What separates man from other animals? The same thing that distinguishes the work of Heddy Honigmann: Soul.

Director's statement

Can you imagine a single day in the world without music? I think that it would be like a scene from a science fiction film in which evil forces suddenly bring all movement – life itself - to a stop. A terrifying, frozen world. –

In Around the World in 50 Concerts, the Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra (RCO) gives us a precious gift: incredibly beautiful music and their dedication to make it sound as perfect as possible. But like we all do, they also need listeners.

During this road movie the orchestra not only meets their great maestro but they encounter extraordinary listeners, people who can't live without music, just like the musicians themselves can't live without the beat of their audiences' hearts.

During the editing of Around the World in 50 Concerts we played with music with total freedom:

A live performance by the RCO could become part of the film's underscore; this same music, used in a series of scenes, could evoke varying emotions and then morph back into a live performance or bring us to a new city. It was also rewarding to use beautifully recorded music and interweave it with dialogue. So music flows everywhere in the film, infiltrating and permeating every corner with its sinuous energy. Our characters received it from the RCO and took it away from the concert halls into their hearts.

HET KONINKLIJK CONCERTGEOUWORKEST

Beschermvrouwe: Hare Majesteit de Koningin

Het Koninklijk Concertgebouw orkest behoort al 125 jaar tot de absolute wereldtop. Wat maakt het orkest uniek? Critici roemen telkens weer de orkestklank, die uit duizenden herkenbaar is. Klank is lastig in woorden te vatten. KCO-strijkers klinken ‘fluwelijk’, het koper heeft een ‘gouden’ klank, het timbre van de houtblazers is heel persoonlijk en de slagwerkers uit Amsterdam hebben wereldfaam opgebouwd.

In de klankkleur van het orkest speelt de bijzondere akoestiek van Het Concertgebouw, gebouwd naar een ontwerp van de architect A.L. van Gendt, een belangrijke rol. Maar niet elk orkest klinkt in de Grote Zaal als het Concertgebouw orkest.

Belangrijk is ook de invloed van de chef-dirigenten, waarvan er in 125 jaar slechts zes zijn geweest. En natuurlijk die van de musici. Het orkest heeft er 120, afkomstig uit meer dan 20 landen. Ondanks de omvang musicert het als een kamerorkest. Er wordt naar elkaar geluisterd en op elkaar ingespeeld. Dat vraagt een grote individuele kwaliteit en groot vertrouwen in elkaar.

De sfeer op het podium, de Amsterdamse wortels en de organisatiestructuur – orkestleden maken deel uit van het bestuur – scheppen daarvoor de juiste omstandigheden. Musici kunnen schitteren en houden tegelijkertijd zorg voor het collectief. Zij delen de ambitie om telkens de hoogste kwaliteit te leveren en willen meer bereiken dan perfect gespeelde noten.

Zo ontstaat er magie en wordt een concert een ervaring om nooit te vergeten.

DE ZES CHEF-DIRIGENTEN

Mariss Jansons werd in september 2004 verwelkomd als zesde chef-dirigent. Zijn voorgangers waren Willem Kes (chef-dirigent van 1888-1895), Willem Mengelberg (1895-1945), Eduard van Beinum (1945-1959), Bernard Haitink (1963-1988) en Riccardo Chailly (1988-2004).

Willem Mengelberg legde de grondslag voor de grote Mahler-traditie. Eduard van Beinum bracht de symfonieën van Bruckner en Franse muziek opnieuw onder de aandacht. Bernard Haitink maakte grote indruk met de in tal van Europese landen op tv uitgezonden Kerstmatinees. In 1999 werd hij benoemd tot eredirigent. Riccardo Chailly, sinds 2004 conductor emeritus, gaf een grote impuls aan de interpretatie van hedendaagse muziek en opera.

Onder leiding van Mariss Jansons is er blijvende aandacht voor componisten als Bruckner, Mahler, Strauss en Brahms, en voor belangrijke twintigste-eeuwse componisten, zoals Sjostakovitsj en Messiaen aan wie grote thematische projecten werden gewijd.

FEITEN EN CIJFERS

Het Concertgebouw orkest werd opgericht in 1888. Sinds het 100-jarig jubileum in 1988 mag het zich Koninklijk noemen. Jaarlijks geeft het orkest zo'n tachtig concerten in het Concertgebouw en veertig op de belangrijkste podia over de hele wereld. Er zijn residenties in Parijs (Salle Pleyel), Brussel (BOZAR), Londen (Barbican Centre) en Frankfurt (Alte Oper). In de eerste helft van dit seizoen voltooide het orkest zijn werelddtournee, waarbij het als eerste orkest ter wereld in één jaar zes werelddelen aandoet.

Het orkest bereikt jaarlijks ongeveer 250.000 concertbezoekers. Via de regelmatige radio- en tv-uitzendingen die het in samenwerking met de AVRO produceert, wordt dat bereik nog eens verveelvoudigd. Het orkest heeft ruim elfhonderd plaat-, cd- en dvd-opnamen gemaakt, waarvan er veel internationaal zijn onderscheiden. Sinds 2004 heeft het orkest zijn eigen label: RCO Live. In 2013 is RCO Universe gelanceerd, een innovatieve online toepassing met verrijkte concertregistraties voor iPhone en iPad.

ROYAL CONCERTGEOUW ORCHESTRA

Patron: Her Majesty the Queen of the Netherlands

The Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra is one of the very best orchestras in the world. But what makes the orchestra so special? Time and time again, critics have lauded its unique sound, which clearly stands out among thousands of others. Although sound is difficult to describe in words, the RCO's string section has been called 'velvety', the sound of the brass 'golden', the timbre of the woodwinds 'distinctly personal' and the percussion have an international reputation.

While the exceptional acoustics of the Concertgebouw, designed by the architect A.L. van Gendt, also play an important role in this respect, no other orchestra sounds like the Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra in the Main Hall. The influence exerted on the orchestra by its chief conductors, of whom there have been only six in the last 125 years, is also important. As is that of the musicians themselves. The Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra is made up of 120 players hailing from over twenty countries. Despite its size, the orchestra actually functions more like a chamber orchestra in terms of the sensitivity with which its members listen to, and work in tandem with, one another. Indeed, this requires both a high individual calibre and a great sense of mutual trust and confidence.

THE SIX CHIEF CONDUCTORS

Mariss Jansons was welcomed as the orchestra's sixth chief conductor in September 2004. Serving before him in that capacity were Willem Kes (chief conductor from 1888 to 1895), Willem Mengelberg (1895–1945), Eduard van Beinum (1945–1959), Bernard Haitink (1963–1988) and Riccardo Chailly (1988–2004). Willem Mengelberg laid the foundation for the orchestra's acclaimed Mahler tradition. Eduard van Beinum introduced Bruckner's symphonies and French music. The Christmas Matinee concerts conducted by Bernard Haitink and televised in many European countries earned him wide acclaim. Haitink was appointed honorary conductor in 1999. Conductor emeritus since 2004, Riccardo Chailly provided a great impetus to the programming of contemporary music and opera. Under the direction of Mariss Jansons, the orchestra has consistently focused on composers such as Bruckner, Mahler, Strauss and Brahms, as well as important twentieth-century composers like Shostakovich and Messiaen, to whom large-scale thematic projects have been devoted.

FACTS AND FIGURES

The Concertgebouw Orchestra was founded in 1888. On the occasion of its 100th anniversary in 1988, the orchestra officially received the appellation 'Royal'. It celebrates its 125th anniversary in 2013. In addition to some eighty concerts performed at the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, the Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra gives forty concerts at leading concert halls throughout the world each year. The orchestra participates in residencies in Paris (Salle Pleyel), Brussels (BOZAR), London (Barbican Centre) and Frankfurt (Alte Oper).

In the first half of this season, RCO Amsterdam RCO Amsterdam completed its world tour of six continents in a single year – the only orchestra ever to do so. The orchestra reaches some 250,000 concert-goers a year. Thanks to regular radio and television broadcasts in collaboration with its media partner, the Dutch broadcasting network AVRO, that exposure is further increased.

The orchestra has made over 1,100 LP, CD and DVD recordings to date, many of which have won international distinctions. In 2004, the orchestra launched its own in-house label, RCO Live, and in 2013 RCO Universe was launched, an innovative online application with enhanced concert recordings for iPhone and iPad.
